This series, led by Jim Oliver, will help you learn how. Geared toward those who have taken a few photos, but want to learn and practice new techniques, this class will improve your skills and allow you to take advantage of the flowers blooming around you in the gardens. www.jimoliverphotography.com | Organic Gardening Primer • April 14 3:00 pm – 5:00 pm Fee: Members $10 Non-members $15 Learn the fundamentals of organic gardening with Garden Manager, Katie Burki. This class will discuss soil amendments, timing of compost and fertilizer applications, and the basics of Integrated Plant Health Management (IPHM). We will also cover basic pest and disease problems that plague NW gardens and how to treat them in the least toxic manner. Bring your questions and ideas pertaining to your own garden. |
| The Informed Gardener, Part II • May 5 3:00 pm – 5:00 pm Fee: Members $10 Non-members $15 Linda Chalker-Scott PH.D. is returning to Lakewold by popular demand. Join us as she discusses her recently published book The Informed Gardener Blooms Again. This is a great second part series to her 2009 lecture, as Linda addresses sustainable landscaping practices and demystifies common misconceptions that plague home gardeners and horticulture professionals. You will surely go home with new ideas for creating healthy gardens! Books will be available for purchase. | Herb Garden Favorites • May 26 3:00 pm – 5:00 pm Fee: Members $10 Non-members $15 Join owner of Creative Gardener, Sue Goetz, for a five senses discovery in the herb garden. Learn about theme gardening for fragrance, culinary, healing and more. Participants will get to know the top ten favorite herbs as well as the many ways to grow and use them. The class will also explore the Knot Garden at Lakewold which is filled with many herbs. Leave the class with fresh ideas and a creative perspective on your favorite herbs. www.thecreativegardener.com |
| Introduction to Ikebana • June 2 3:00 pm – 6:00 pm Fee: Members $35 Non-members $45 Lakewold is offering an introductory class on the Japanese art of flower arranging, Ikebana. Led by Patricia Smith, this class will provide participants with a brief overview of the history and techniques of the various Ikebana styles. Participants will then venture into the gardens to collect pieces for the hands-on portion of the class to create an Ikebana arrangement to take home. | Basic Pruning for Ornamentals • June 23 3:00 pm – 5:00 pm Fee: Members $15 Non-members $20 Join us for a hands-on pruning class and learn the basics of ornamental shrub pruning - proper use and care for tools, techniques, and pruning cuts. The first half of the class will be instructional and the remainder of the class will take place in the garden for a hands-on session to try your new skills. Please note: You must bring your own pruners to participate in the hands-on portion of the class. |
| Cutting Garden Perennials • June 29 3:00 pm – 5:00 pm Fee: Members $10 Non-members $15 Sue Goetz, owner of Creative Gardener, will be sharing her knowledge of garden plans, plants, and creative ideas to grow a cutting garden. The class will discuss care and planting for the best-suited perennials to create texture and color through the season, and cover the newest introductions to the tried and true classics. Participants will also learn about techniques for cutting and preserving fresh cut and dried florals. | Hyper-Tufa Trough Making • July 14 5:00 pm – 7:00 pm Fee: Members $35 Non-members $45 Come and enjoy a summer evening at Lakewold while making your own Hyper-Tufa trough. Bring a form that you would like to use as a mold, and we will provide the rest! You will learn the basics of trough making and create your own to take home. Please note: Your form must not taper at the top, and your form needs to be reasonably sized as they can get quite heavy. Also, your trough will need to "cure" before use, details will be provided at the workshop. |
